The Substantial and Continuous Growth of Petworth

Argues well for the future of this subdivision. The advancing property values are not the result of a boom, but the logical sequel of actual improvements, aggregating in cost over half a million dollars.

The subdivision is now supplied with water, sewer and gas; streets are graded, granolithic sidewalks laid and it enjoys every facility and convenience of the older sections of Washington. Only 30 minutes by electric line to 9th and F streets, and the car service is now vastly improved. Beautiful houses are going up all over the property and we are receiving applications every day from those who desire to obtain lots for building purposes in this subdivision.

We still have a number of very choice lots left at 20c. to 45c. a foot, and our offer still holds good to build you a house after your own plans on a lot of your own selection, and sell you the house and lot at the easy monthly payment plan.

DON'T put off. You will never be offered such a generous proposition again. You will never have the opportunity to own exactly the sort of house you'd like to have with the privilege of paying for it on a monthly rental basis.

Come to our office in the Colorado Building tomorrow or as soon as you can and we will take you out to see the property in one of our automobiles.

TO CHECK ATHLETICS

Movement to Regulate Subject in High Schools.

TEACHERS AGITATED

BOARD OF EDUCATION TO CONSIDER ENTIRE SUBJECT.

Tendency to Subordinate Scholarship to Athletics — Reports From Other Cities—Secret Societies.

Is scholarship being subordinated to athletics in the high schools of Washington?

This question is agitating the minds of many teachers, and the remarks of a prominent member of the board of education would seem to suggest the earnest consideration of the subject by that body in the near future. This is what he said to a Star reporter yesterday:

"That athletics are seriously impairing the intellectual development of the public school pupils few question, and it would seem, from the interest already manifested in the subject, athletics will be curtailed, or, at least, be properly regulated in the near future."

"No teacher in these days of strenuous endeavor has the temerity to oppose athletics in the schools. That they tend toward the general wellbeing of the boys all admit. But they insist, and with arguments that cannot be combated, that athletics should only be countenanced under proper regulations rigidly enforced."

"During the past few years competition has grown keener among the high schools and the annual foot ball games have engendered bad feeling. Several students have been disciplined for fighting and threatened with dismissal."

"The base ball games have not been free from contentions and the annual drill usually provokes disagreeable features. These quarrels and bickerings have been reflected in some measure by the several principals, whose ambition in the past seems to have been a desire to win victories by brawn rather than brain."

"Properly regulated, athletics are necessary. The development of the body is of equal, if not greater importance than the mind. For a sound mind in a weak structure becomes a useless adjunct and must fail for proper support."

This subject of athletics with special reference to their proper management in the public schools, is not a new one. Boards of education in other cities have wrestled with the problem, and from recent reports it would appear they have found a remedy."

In the annual report of the superintendent of instruction of Cleveland, Ohio, the subject of physical education is treated this way:

"The members of the school board, the school director and the superintendent of instruction have given special thought and attention to a physical training that will be for reaching and which will touch the life of every child and every class of children and youth in the city. The consensus of opinion is that the purpose and aim of this department should be to build up physically the weaker pupils of the schools, and that all exercises in the gymnasium and in the athletic field should be planned with this in view. The general practice in the high school, the college and the university has been to select the strong boys in small numbers and make them stronger. This has been especially true in athletics. The physically weak or undersized boy has had no chance for anything better. He is, in fact, excluded from the ranks of the robust and strong and deprived not only of the benefits, but of the pleasure of the sports of his more fortunate and less needy classmates. Hardly 5 per cent of the boys in our schools have had any active part in the athletics of their class. Many of the number are remaining live in hopes of better things for themselves, but there are others with less physical strength who become depressed in spirit and make no effort to better their condition. It is the policy of the present administration of the schools to give every pupil an equal opportunity to secure for himself every benefit it is possible to obtain from a well-organized system of physical culture."

Superintendent Southworth of the public schools of Somerville, Mass., devotes a major part of his 1904 report to the subject of athletics. Read what he says:

"The interest in school athletics is constantly growing, not only among students, but with the public. Unregulated, they are a menace to the schools; properly controlled, they are productive of good. They must be subordinated to scholastic interests. Honors won in the classroom or at college examinations must be held superior to those gained on the ball field. The school teams must fitly represent their schools in conduct and character. They may elevate and make the reputation of their schools and their city. Not only should their conduct be sportsmanlike on the field, but clean and manly everywhere. Games should be absolutely free from trickery or ruffianism or baseness of any sort."

"For several years the Somerville high schools have stood where what is best in athletics. The long line of victories has been honorably won by their teams. The players have reflected credit on their schools and city, not only by their prowess, but by their gentlemanly demeanor. This condition has not come about by chance, but has been developed by experiment and failure, as well as by success."

The Somerville high schools belong to the Interscholastic League, along with four other high schools.

The interests of the schools and the character of the games are safeguarded by stringent rules. For example:

1. The governing board consists of one under-graduate, two graduates, and one teacher from each school approved by the head master.

2. The head masters form a board of final appeal.

3. The teachers on the governing board are a committee on games. Two members of this committee must attend each game, with power to settle certain questions that may arise.

4. No student can play on a team unless a bona fide member of the school, taking a full year's work.

5. No one can be placed on a team until a course of twelve prepared recitation periods per week in a way to secure promotion.

6. He must also have attained a promotion standard during the previous year.

7. He can take part in no contest unless he is in good and regular standing and maintaining honorable conduct.

8. A student once ruled out of a game for improper play is disqualified for future play unless formally reinstated.

These rules insure intelligent management and a fair standard of scholarship in players.

Rules have been vigorously enforced and players frequently debarred for low scholastic standing. The head masters and the teachers generally have actively participated in the affairs of the association. More than all else, as contributors toward harmony and success, have been the attitude and spirit and co-operation of the students themselves.

The most important person connected with the athletic interests of the school is the coach. Upon him rests not only the responsibility for championship successes, but in a large degree he is also responsible for the morale of the team. In his personality and character, more than in any other, should be the equal of any teacher. His control should be absolute and he should allow nothing that in the least detracts from the highest type of sportsmanlike play or gentlemanly conduct.

The leading criticism upon school athletics is that they have been left too largely to student control and have been loosely managed. While this criticism, as has been shown, does not apply to our association at present, we have shared in the general feeling that there should be a closer affiliation between school authorities and all student activities, such as publications and athletics. Whatever legal difficulties may be in the way of a general movement in this direction in this state will soon be probably removed by legislative enactment.

The conditions are propitious for such a change in our city. In the organization everything is harmonious. The treasury is full, we fly the championship banners, the management is efficient, the coaching department is strong, and both the association and the students are ready to welcome the addition to the governing body of representatives from the school board. Certainly matters so closely connected with school interests should come to some extent under the direction of the committee. It would be unwise to wait until troubles arise to correct them.

While wisely regulated field athletics furnish excellent physical training, this training is limited to the common people and the large number of poor students should not be allowed to feel that they are being kept in touch with the common people and take their places accordingly. This is a matter which necessarily, in a large degree, is in the hands of parents, and with which neither the board of education nor the school authorities in general can interfere, except to the extent of advice and suggestion. It is, however, not only in our city, but in other cities, a question of growing importance.

In this case a connection the matter of athletics cannot be overlooked. That it has come to stay in both universities and high schools, is not open to dispute, and that it has its good points in the development of the boy or girl goes without saying.

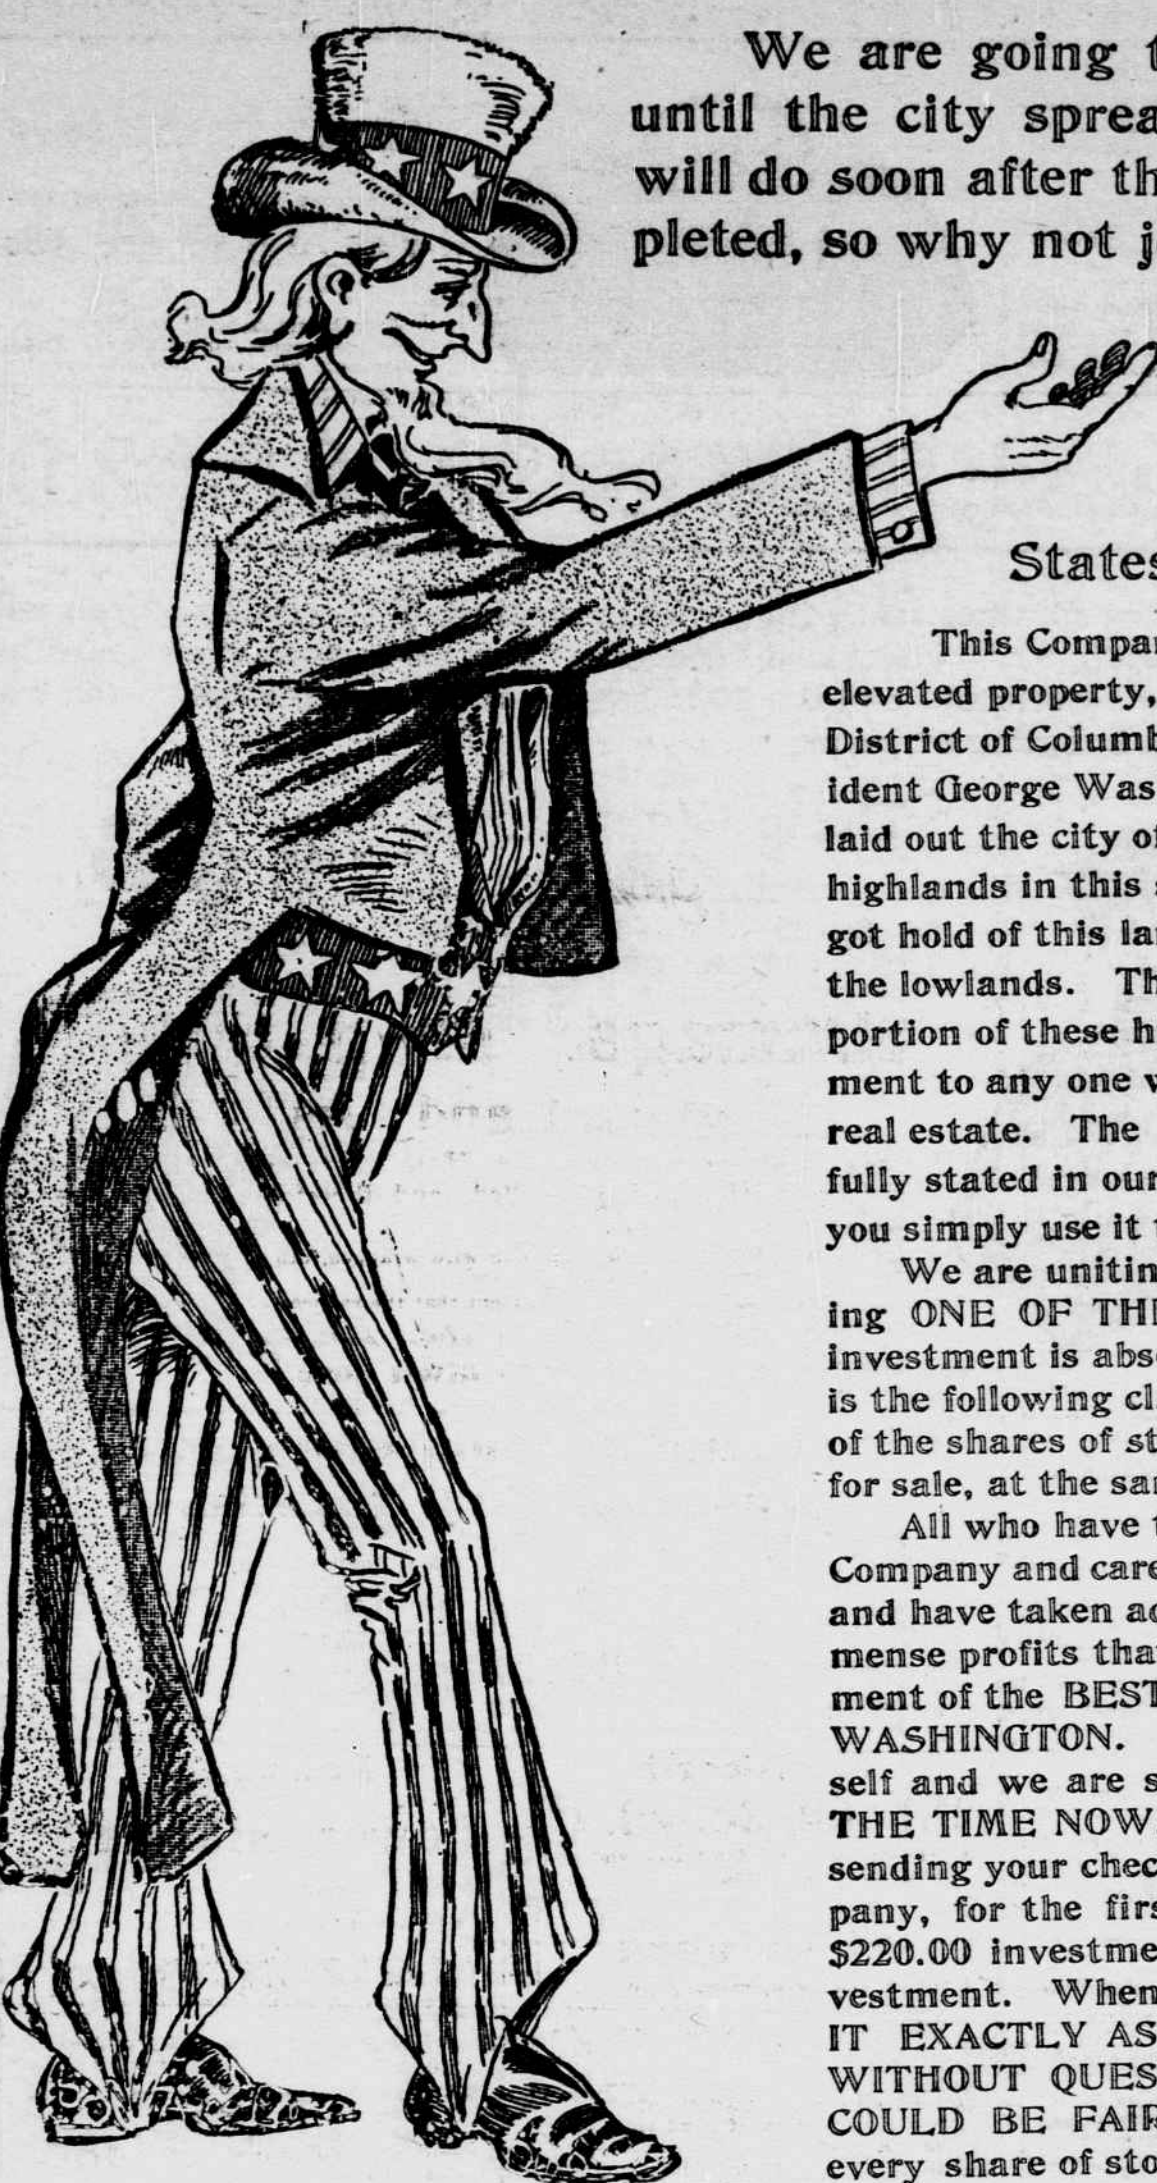

It is unfortunate, however, that those boys and girls who are most in need of physical training are the ones who, under the present system, get little or none of it from the high schools.

"In the meantime we have gone foot ball mad, and the rivalry which has arisen between the different schools has not been in all respects generous. This matter has now been put into the hands of a committee."

System at Minneapolis.
In the annual report of the board of education of Minneapolis Superintendent Jordan has this to offer:

"I regret the tendency which prevails in some of the high schools toward imitating the methods of colleges and universities."

Fall in Line and Follow the Crowd

We are going to keep this matter constantly before you until the city spreads out over this Company's land, which it will do soon after the electric railroad now being built is completed, so why not join the crowd now and not wait and pay a higher price later, which many of you will do.

People from all over the United States are sending their money to the United States Realty Company for investment.

This Company owns over 7,000,000 sq. ft. of beautifully located and highly elevated property, largely on Pennsylvania Avenue, in the eastern section of the District of Columbia, and it is carrying out the original ideas and plans of President George Washington and the French Landscape Architect, L'Enfant, who laid out the city of Washington. It was their intention to have the beautiful highlands in this section covered with magnificent residences, but speculators got hold of this land and held it at such a high price that it drove the city into the lowlands. The United States Realty Company has recently secured a large portion of these highlands and is offering a good, safe and profitable investment to any one who wants to share in the large profits being realized from real estate. The money you invest will go to develop the Company's land, as fully stated in our prospectus; in this way you don't part with your money—you simply use it to enhance your own property.

We are uniting hundreds of men and women into this Company and forming ONE OF THE STRONGEST CORPORATIONS IN WASHINGTON. This investment is absolutely safe, because on the back of each certificate of stock is the following clause:—"This Certificate is exchangeable at the full face value of the shares of stock it represents, for any Real Estate of the Company, listed for sale, at the same price the said real estate is offered to cash purchasers."

All who have thoroughly inspected the property of the United States Realty Company and carefully investigated its proposition have been more than pleased and have taken advantage of the opportunity offered them to share in the immense profits that are going to be realized from the improvement and development of the BEST LOCATED UNIMPROVED PROPERTY ANYWHERE ABOUT WASHINGTON. If you have time, go out and inspect this property for yourself and we are sure you will also be pleased, BUT IF YOU CANNOT SPARE THE TIME NOW, OR LIVE TOO FAR AWAY, you can make no mistake by sending your check or money order, payable to the United States Realty Company, for the first payment, namely, $3 for a $110.00 investment, $5 for a $220.00 investment, $10 for a $550.00 investment, or $20 for a $1,100.00 investment. When you find time to inspect the property, IF YOU DO NOT FIND IT EXACTLY AS REPRESENTED, THE COMPANY WILL REFUND YOU, WITHOUT QUESTION, EVERY CENT YOU HAVE PUT INTO IT. WHAT COULD BE FAIRER? You run no risk whatever. There is real estate back of every share of stock issued, and to be issued, which makes it absolutely safe.

You only have to continue these monthly payments until the amount you pay in, together with the dividends which the Company is sure to declare, aggregate the amount you subscribe for.

If you should die any time after you make your first installment payment, your heirs will get a certificate for the amount you subscribe for, full paid and non-assessable, without the payment of another cent. Instead of being a burden to your family, it is a help and protection.

All moneys received from rents and from the sale of real estate will go into the dividend fund and be paid out annually, so there is sure to be an annual dividend.

This Company owns the controlling interest in a valuable railroad, which is the "key" to the development of several million dollars of real estate.

Secret societies, elaborate class day and graduating exercises, the expensive class parties and matters of this kind are not conducive, it seems to me, to the best interests of the schools. The high schools, in order to be what they should be, must be kept in touch with the common people and the large number of poor students should not be allowed to feel that they are being kept in touch with the common people and take their places accordingly. This is a matter which necessarily, in a large degree, is in the hands of parents, and with which neither the board of education nor the school authorities in general can interfere, except to the extent of advice and suggestion. tee, consisting of the principals of the high schools and the superintendent of schools, and such action has been taken as will, we think, in the future eliminate from the athletic sports a quite large class of boys to whom a high school education means not an opportunity for acquiring knowledge from books, but an opportunity for showing prowess on the foot ball field. It is supposed that every boy who takes part in the athletic sports brings a request from his father that he be allowed to do so, and does such work in his studies as to preclude complaints on the part of the teacher. I very much wish that some other method could be provided, so that all pupils in the high schools could have the benefit of wise athletic training."

Athletics at St. Paul.
The Athletic Association of the public schools of St. Paul is governed by regulations, the most important of which relates to the selection of teams and their management. Captain Smith says upon this subject:

"The members of the several teams shall be chosen as follows: The association shall submit to the principal a list of the names of those who are eligible for membership in the team, accompanied by the written consent of the parents and a physician's certificate of physical ability, for each one named. The principal shall thereupon pass and submit for examination by the board of school inspectors the record of each candidate, verified by the signatures of his several teachers, from the date of his admission to a high school to the date of his application for membership. This record must show that the candidate is a regular pupil (who has not engaged in the proposed athletic work for a longer period than four years, and who is not a post-graduate) in good standing, having successfully passed in at least three studies and been promoted at the close of the previous semester and carrying, without condition or failure in any study, an approved program.
